PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Adam Rose is the founder and principal attorney at Rose Law Firm, P.C. His practice focuses on representing shareholders as they plan for and navigate business ownership change of control events—whether in a transactional setting or in corporate-control litigation.

Adam has substantial experience with mergers & acquisitions, corporate governance, corporate finance, securities laws, joint venture relationships, and fiduciary duty advising.

Adam also has represented clients in numerous corporate and commercial litigation matters: shareholder disputes, partnership disputes, business divorce, minority shareholder rights, derivative actions, corporate dissenters' rights, and securities litigation. Between 2014 and 2017, Adam has been actively involved in several, multi-million dollar complex civil litigation matters in federal District court.
